

Launch Microsoft 365 Copilot with help from Engage Squared

Services overview

The shift to AI-powered ways of working is well and truly underway.

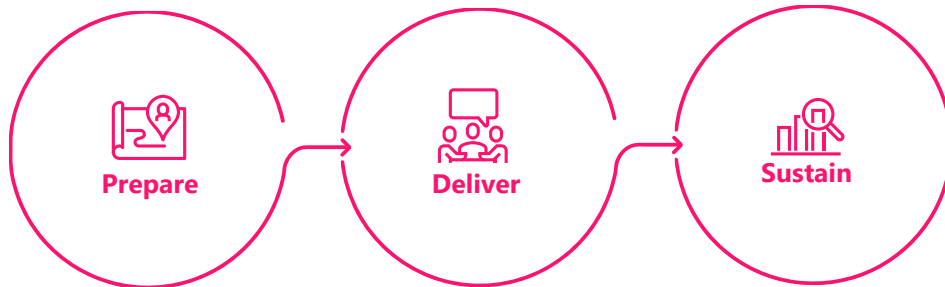

The most recent Work Trend Index report is clear – increasing digital debt is costing us innovation. The constant inflow of data, emails, meetings, and notifications has outpaced humans’ ability to process it all (WTI, 2023). To remain competitive, it’s critical that businesses transform their digital workplace from one where employees must do the hard work and go to the information > to an experience where technology does the hard work for you. Information comes to you through better integration, personalisation, and intelligence.

Combining Engage Squared’s change management methodology with our deep product knowledge, our team of experts will help you each step of the way. From engaging the right business stakeholders, to designing and executing your first Microsoft 365 Copilot campaign, our team can help make your ‘new ways of working with AI’ launch a successful one.

Make your launch of Microsoft 365 Copilot a successful one, with help from our change experts.

Our approach

Regardless of the size and scope of your initiative, we follow our Prepare, Deliver, Sustain methodology, to ensure our activities are tightly aligned to your vision and objectives.

The prepare phase is key for us to understand the context of your organisation and people.

We will scale and implement the five levers of change to support people through the transition.

Key to ongoing success is ensuring the appropriate mechanisms are in place to sustain the change into the future.

Expected outcomes

- Internal ‘experts’ (e.g. champions & leaders) that can support sustained adoption of Microsoft 365 Copilot across your organisation
- Employees that understand the value and use of Microsoft 365 Copilot in relation to their role (achieved through scenario-based training and coaching)
